DANIEL KIBERA

Summary

Am a highly motivated, adaptable and responsible graduate with an increasingly extensive knowledge of diverse IT systems and implementation.

This is complemented by my strong computing background and familiarity with a set of programming skills using HTML,CSS, JavaScript, Python and Go, computer networking, system and database design and implementation, project management and time management.

Am also well versed with offering both basic and more technical solutions such as software installation, troubleshooting, hardware repair and maintenance and IT support.

My objective is to secure a position in an organization so as to expand my knowledge and experience so as to make a responsible career opportunity by fully utilizing my training and skills while making a significant contribution to the success of the firm.
